PERFECT BROILED COCKTAIL SHRIMP

7	Place the Shrimp in a large stainless steel bowl and sprinkle to taste with Old Bay
	Seasoning while tossing to evenly coat the Shrimp. Once the Broiler is hot, place the seasoned Shrimp on the hot sheet pan in a single layer,
8	they WILL sizzle on the hot sheet pan.
9	Place the sheet pan under the broiler, CLOSE the oven door and broil the Shrimp for TWO minutes - TIME IT! The proper length of time to cook the first side of Shrimp can be determined by the color of the Tail Shells - If they are darkening, they are ready to be turned over. Also look at the meat in the slit where you deveined the Shrimp, It should be starting to open up and turn white.
CAUTION	This recipe is "timed" for 21 / 25 count Shrimp ONLY. Any smaller Shrimp, adjust the 2 minutes down a few seconds. Any larger Shrimp, adjust the 2 minutes up a few seconds.
10	QUICKLY turn EACH shrimp over with tongs, do NOT allow them to cool too much. Close the oven door and broil the Shrimp for ONE minute more. TIME IT!
11	Remove the sheet pan from the oven. Inspect the Shrimp Meat in the deveining slit, it should appear solid white with no translucent areas, if so, the Shrimp are DONE! If not, leave them set in the turned off broiler until done. Remove the cold stainless bowl from the freezer. Dump the cooked Shrimp into the bowl and toss for 30 seconds. Place the bowl back in the freezer for FIVE minutes to halt any further cooking. Do NOT forget they are in there or they'll quickly FREEZE & be ruined!
SERVE	At this point, you may peel off the shells, leaving the tail shell on or off, your personal choice. Arrange 6 Shrimp around the rim of a Martini Glass filled with Shrimp Cocktail Sauce and serve immediately.
